“ Onaje, was great friend of mine in early 1980. I am a Gambian and was in New York at the time when I met him. He was a real revolutionary committed to the liberation of Africa at the time. Our friendship grew to the point that he named his son after me.(Lamin O. Jackson.

I am in dare need to get to his wife, Barbara and Lamin. If anyone happens to get this post and knows the family, pass on my details: Lamin Jammeh. Email: jammehnaney@gmail.com. Thanks “ Onaje was a great friend and colleague. I worked with him at Steven Winter. Always had a great time being with him. Visited him in St. Crix and in Passaic. I am saddened by his loss. I will always remember him fondly.

“ Onaje was so kind and a visionary in sustainable energy. I always enjoyed seeing him at Yale's Afro-American Cultural Center during anniversary events. We once talked for two hours after an event and Onaje was enrapturing! Black Yale will miss you. I'll love your energy forever. ❤️💙 Pamela George “Michael was the only person I wanted to go to my Junior prom with. It was him or no one! I asked him and he gave me that dazzling smile and said yes. He gave me a beautiful corsage and Mr. Jackson served as our chauffeur for the evening. Michael even helped me prepare the prom decorations the night before at the high school. We danced the night away at the prom and had a great time.

Coincidentally, I have been mounting a Tribute wall in my apartment of pics of memories of my life in Passaic and Jersey City where I lived and worked for many years. When I posted our junior prom pic it brought back memories of that night. I found out two days ago that he passed. I am still trying to wrap my head around it. When folks come over to my place I always brag about him when they see the pic.

Loved him then and always.

*I just learned of Onaje's passing this morning. I am saddened by this news. I knew him in St Croix, US Virgin Islands where he was well known and well liked. He had a gentle spirit and was always a gentleman. It was a pleasure knowing him. The world has lost a wonderful being. I hope his passing was peaceful.

“ I am deeply saddened by my dear friend Onaje's passing and myself, my wife Gertraud and all of the Baran family send the Jackson family our deepest condolences and love. Onaje and I were lifelong friends first meeting at the Passaic YMCA in 1966 where his father was my first swimming coach and "Mike" and I were teammates. We travelled far and wide together competing in NJ swimming and myself, my brother John and my family have wonderful memories of Onaje, his parents Ed and Deloris and sister Rise during those days. Onaje and I once again became team members at Yale as we swam and played water polo together during the mid 1970's and both studied architecture. RIP my dear friend Onaje and fellow teammate in life. Your faith and indomitable spirit is a lasting inspiration and testament to all you accomplished and all you touched during your journey.
