

Valerie Jean Richburg

May 23, 1948 - November 1, 2022

Valerie Jean Comissiong Richburg, the eldest of four children, was born on May 23, 1948, to the late Martha E Knight Comissiong and the late Leo L Comissiong Sr, in Bronx, New York. Valerie completed high school at Theodore Roosevelt (NewYork) and married the late Eddie Richburg Sr. Valerie pursued a career in Nursing as a Licensed Practical Nurse, working in various settings, such as Harlem Hospital (NY), Saint Luke's Roosevelt (NY), North Jersey Developmental Center (NJ) and later retired from Bergen Pines Regional (NJ). Her LP career afforded her the ability to work and achieve raising three children, moving from the inner, urban city of New York to the suburbs of New Jersey. This afforded her the opportunity in which to flourish and provide a safer environment for her family to grow. Valerie's interest included was to enhance someone's life and living, as well as a means of supplemental income. Valerie sold Copper, Avon, Princess House Crystal, and the latest, Mary Kay. Valerie also found solace in practicing Nicheren Buddhism, a Japanese form of Buddhism, chanting "Namu Myoho Renge Kyo" as a means for mindfulness and meditation as well as compassion and wisdom.

Valerie's life is succeeded by her sisters: Olga Angela Comissiong, Donna Marie Baker (brother-in-law Taft Baker). Stephanie Comissiong and Elizabeth "Charlie Comissiong.

Her brothers: Leo L Comissiong Jr and Ralph Johnson.

Her three children: Eddie Richburg Jr, Crystal Richburg-Oliver, Andre Richburg (daughter in law Elizabeth Richburg).

Her five Grandchildren, who lovingly called her "Mama": Jasmyn E Oliver-Parris, Jovan R Oliver, Jaden L Oliver, Brittany Richburg, and Kaleb Cruz.

Three Great Grandchildren: Loren I Parris. Zaire O Parris and Malia S Richburg, as well as nieces, nephews, cousins, additional extended family members and friends.
