So many questions running through my mind,
I am suddenly unable to speak
I hear your voice on the other end,
Your cries turn into shrieks

This moment I will forever remember,
It is a scar upon my soul.
I am more sure about this than I have ever been,
My heart will never be whole.

So many questions running through my mind,
The pain stabs at my chest.
Tears colliding with one another,
How will I survive this test?

Stricken with an unbearable weight,
A feeling of emptiness echoes inside.
The two complete for control of my body.

Moving in and out like the tide.

So many questions running through my mind,
When will I awake from this dream?
I hear your voice on the other end,
Your cries turn into a scream.

She's gone, she gone, I hear you say,
And yet I don't comprehend.
To bear the thought of my little sister
Being someone I will never see again on this earth.

So many questions running through my mind,
But at the same time my thoughts disappear
Taken away by the demons of addiction,
The one thing she promised to never fear.

As my sadness fades and reality sets in,
While the darkness moves in on the light,
Tattered on the ground are the broken promises
Of the loved ones we've lost to this fight.

“ I met Vernita while working at ARC. That was back in like 1990s. She was so awesome! So funny and sincere. You could always have the best time just chillin' w/Nita! We spent so many nights just killing time. Watching tv, talking bout this and that. Listening to music. Dreaming big dreams. We kept in touch all these years. I left for medical school, and she came to Philly to visit. She was at my wedding. Christmas cards etc exchanged thru the years. Recently she and I went out in Ft Lauderdale. I've been divorced four years now. She met my boyfriend. We had a great time. I'm so shocked and sad to learn of Vernita's passing. My sincere condolences to her family and friends. I'm privileged to have known her! My life was made more rich and full by her friendship.

PS... Nita if you see Kevin in heaven, say hi for me! 😭

“ "Grace be to you and peace from God our Father, and from The Lord Jesus Christ."

2 Corinthians 1:2. (KJV)

Dearest cousin Vernita, rest peacefully and may God bless and comfort your siblings, family and friends to have peace during this difficult time.

We love you, but God loved you best.

“ Dear Vernita,

I am going to miss you so much, so many years of friendship, ups and downs, but mostly fun and unforgettable life experiences we shared together, our crazy trip through France, all our other trips together, at the right time of our lives when we were young and fearless, savoring all of life's immense gifts, plus hours on the phone just sharing our lives and daily toils, may the light embrace you into the Universe we are all energy that live forever

*Love,
Peter*
